CONTEXT

Name of Creator(s): The Armstrong family of Moyaliffe Castle, county Tipperary, and the related families of Maude of Lenaghan, county Fermanagh; Everard of Ratcliffe Hall, Leicestershire; Kemmis of Ballinacor, county Wicklow; Russell of Broadmead Manor, Kent; and others.

Biographical History: The Armstoms were a Scottish border clan, prominent in the service of both Scottish and English kings. Numerous and feared, the clan is said to have derived its name from a warrior who during the Battle of the Standard in 1138 lifted a fallen king onto his own horse with one arm after the king’s horse had been killed under him.

In the turbulent years of the seventeenth century, many Armstrongs headed to Ireland to fight for the Royalist cause. Among them was Captain William Armstrong (c. 1630-1695), whose father, Sir Thomas Armstrong, had been a supporter of Charles I throughout the Civil War and the Commonwealth rule, and had twice faced imprisonment in the Tower of London for his support for Charles II. When Charles II was restored to power, he favoured Captain William Armstrong with a lease of Farneybridge, county Tipperary, in 1660, and a grant of Bohercarron and other lands in county Limerick in 1666. In 1669, William was appointed Commissioner for Payroll Tax, and over the next ten years added to his holdings in the area, including the former lands of Holy Cross Abbey and the lands of Ballycahill. He established himself at Farney Castle and married Alice, daughter of Sir Thomas Deane. Of his children, a son, John, married Juliana, daughter of Robert Carew of Castle Boro’, county Wexford, and became progenitor of the Heaton-Armstrong branch of the family. A younger son, Thomas Armstrong, married Juliana’s sister, Mary, and established the Moyaliffe branch.

Thomas Armstrong (1671-1741), High Sheriff of county Tipperary, acquired the lands and castle of Moyaliffe (originally Mealiffe) at around the time of the death of his father, and settled in a small stone house built close to the ruins of Moyaliffe Castle. The birth of seven sons and seven daughters necessitated the construction of the first of the many extensions which characterize the former family seat, also named Moyaliffe Castle. Of his sons, five survived infancy. The eldest, William, succeeded to the family estate; Andrew was apprenticed to a Cork mariner and set up as a merchant; John and Robert became clergymen; and George was apprenticed to a banker. Of Thomas’s daughters, five also survived infancy and married into the Ellard, Dexter, Smyth, Lloyd and Bettridge families, becoming wives of attorneys and clergymen.

William Armstrong (1704-1768), Thomas’s eldest son, never married. Described as a man ‘who seldom refused a request’, William entered into a number of ill-advised bonds and low-rate leases and left his financial affairs under the dubious management of his brother-in-law, James Dexter. The catastrophic state of these affairs did not come to light until William's death, when his brother and successor, the Reverend John Armstrong (1708-1781), found himself burdened with heavy financial responsibilities. Many of the complicated legal cases into which John was forced to enter as a result dragged on for two generations.

Ordained in 1734, the Reverend John Armstrong served as Curate of Kilfaird from 1734 to 1737 and as Rector of Tipperary from 1737 to 1753. He also acted as headmaster of the local Erasmus Smith Grammar school. He married Frances, daughter of schoolmaster John Garnett of Tipperary, and had issue seven sons and four daughters, of whom two boys died in infancy. Of the surviving sons, Thomas, Edward and Alfred entered the army, while William and Robert followed in their father's footsteps and became clergymen. Only one of the daughters, Anne, ever married, taking as her husband in 1793 William Bagwell of Shanrahan, county Tipperary.

The Reverend John Armstrong bore witness to a dramatic event during morning prayers on 6 June 1753, when a gang of armed men burst into St Mary's Church in Tipperary and abducted Susannah Grove. The clergyman's courageous conduct in an attempt to prevent the abduction was witnessed by Lord Townsend, then Viceroy of Ireland, and impressed him so deeply that he promoted the Reverend John Armstrong's eldest son, Thomas, to the rank of captain.

Captain Thomas Armstrong having predeceased his father in 1774, the Moyaliffe estate was in due course inherited by his younger brother, the Reverend William Carew Armstrong, known to his family and friends as Billy. Educated at Trinity College, Dublin, he graduated in 1778, and was appointed first Vicar and later Rector (1789-1797) of Moyaliffe. He also held the rectorship of Moylough in the diocese of Tuam, and the chancellorship of the diocese of Cashel. His interest in architecture manifested itself in the construction of a new parish church on a medieval church site in nearby Killvalure, and a Georgian wing to Moyaliffe Castle, running at right angles to the main block. He is also credited with some of the landscaping on the estate, including the planting of a parkland of oaks and beeches, and the establishment of a beech walk overlooking the Clodagh River (which was cut away in the 1960s).

In 1789, the Reverend William Carew Armstrong married the Honourable Catherine Eleanor Beresford, eldest daughter of the Most Reverend the Honourable William Beresford, first Baron Decies, Archbishop of Tuam, and granddaughter of Sir Marcus Beresford, first Earl of Tyrone. Their three younger sons followed the by now familiar family tradition: Marcus Beresford and Alfred Thomas became clergymen, while George De la Poer secured a commission in the army (which he was later obliged to resign on account of drunkenness). The three daughters – Elizabeth, Frances and Clara – never married. The Reverend Marcus Beresford Armstrong was the progenitor of the Ballydavid branch of the family in county Waterford, where his eldest son, William, settled. William's only male child, Captain Marcus Beresford Armstrong, was later to succeed to the Moyaliffe estate.

William and Catherine's eldest son, John Armstrong (1791-1846), led the life of a gentleman as a landed proprietor and magistrate for Sligo and Tipperary. Through his marriage in 1815 to Catherine Somers, daughter and heiress of Thomas Somers, he came into possession of estates in Mayo and Sligo, most notably the Somers family seat, Chaffpool, where he took up residence and set up improving the estate, which included the demolition of the old house and construction of a new one, complete with out-offices and landscaped grounds. He also became involved in local politics, serving as Justice of the Peace and Deputy Lieutenant for Sligo and, in the parliamentary elections of the 1830s, acting as agent for the Tory candidate, Edward Cooper of Markree Castle. John was well respected as magistrate, and during the famine was unanimously elected as chairman of the Upper Leyny and Tubbercurry Relief Committees. He died prematurely on 2 December 1846 of typhus fever, which he is said to have contracted by getting caught in a downpour on his way to the committee meeting at Tubbercurry and sitting through the meeting in half-dried clothes. The Sligo Journal paid tribute to him as a man who ‘fell a victim of his sense of devotion to the cause of charity.’

Like the previous generations, John and Catherine Armstrong had a large family of eight sons and two daughters. The eldest son, William (b. 1816), was a Captain in the 47th regiment and served in the War of India. He married in June 1848 a French woman, Mathilde Rose, daughter of Count de la Brosse, but died just eight months later in March 1849. His only son, John, was born posthumously in May of that year. The second son, Thomas (b. 1822), also served in India, where he died unmarried in 1847. The third son, George (b. 1823), died unmarried in 1864. The family estate then evolved upon the fifth son, James Wood Armstrong (b. 1827), Captain in the Royal Navy. Like his father, James acted as both landlord and magistrate in Sligo but, although well-liked by his tenants, was considered harsh in the latter role. In Tipperary, he improved the Moyaliffe estate and enlarged the family home by the addition of the Victorian façade. The plans for its design were drawn up in 1864, the year James succeeded to the estate. He became ill while attending a shooting party at the Templehouse demesne as a guest of the Perceval family in late November 1889 and died in the care of that family three weeks later. To honour his memory, the Select Vestry of Tubbercurry Parish Church built the Armstrong Memorial Chancel as an addition to the church. The family estates evolved on James’s younger brother, Captain Edward Marcus Armstrong (b. 1829), who as Lieutenant had fought in the Crimean War and was wounded in the Battle of Alma. Having returned from the front, he married Frances Steele in 1863 and made Moyaliffe Castle his main home, dying there without issue in 1889.

As all but one of Edward’s siblings were unmarried or had died without issue, and as his only nephew, John, had died in 1853, the property evolved on Edward’s first cousin once removed, Marcus Beresford Armstrong (1859-1923). The eldest (and the only son) of the five children of William Armstrong (1826-1889) of Ballydavid, county Waterford, Marcus chose a military career and rose to the rank of Captain in the 8th Brigade of the Northern Irish Division of the Royal Artillery. In 1888, he married Rosalie Maude (1868-1956), second daughter of Maurice Ceely Maude (1820-1904) of Lenaghan Park, Enniskillen, county Fermanagh. Rosalie’s paternal grandfather, the Reverend John Charles Maude (1792-1860), rector of Enniskillen, was the fifth son of Cornwallis Maude, first Viscount Hawarden (1729-1803) of Dundrum, County Tipperary, from his marriage to his third wife, Anne Isabella Monck, sister of first Viscount Monck.

Captain Marcus and Rosalie Armstrong had four children. The eldest, William Maurice Armstrong (b. 1889), known in his childhood and early youth as Maurice and later as Pat, followed the distinguished military tradition of his family, rising to the rank of Captain in the 10th Royal Hussars (the Prince of Wales’s Own). He served in India until the outbreak of the First World War, when he joined the Expeditionary Force as part of the 2nd Cavalry Brigade. On staff of Major-General Sir Beauvoir de Lisle at Mons and at the landing and evacuation of Gallipoli in the famous 29th Division, and later serving in Egypt, Captain Pat Armstrong was awarded a Military Cross in 1916 for gallant and distinguished service in the field. He was killed on 23 May 1917 by a sniper while inspecting his troops in a front-line trench at Arras, France. Following his death, the General commanding the Cavalry corps wrote: 'I do not know of anyone of his age who had a more promising future before him, as not only did he love his profession, and show most of the qualities needed for him to shine in it, but he had such a charming personality that all he came in contact with loved him, and were able to show their best work when working with him or under him.'

Pat Armstrong's eldest sister, Cornelia Ione Kathleen Armstrong (1890-1967) married in 1918 Sir William Lindsay Everard (1891-1949) of Ratcliffe Hall, Leicestershire, a brewer, pioneer aviator, founder of the Ratcliffe Aerodrome and MP for Melton from 1924 to 1944. They had two children, Bettyne (1919-1989) and Patrick Anthony William Beresford ('Tony') (1922-2011), of whom the latter died unmarried. Bettyne married as her first husband Major Denis Butler, ninth Earl of Lanesborough (1918-1998) and by her had two daughters, Georgina (1941-1947) and Denyne (b. 1945). The marriage was dissolved by divorce in 1950. She later married Richard Peter Michael Spencer and by him had a daughter, Serena, and a son, Richard.

Winona Rosalie Armstrong (1893-1982), known to her family as Jess, married in 1927 Captain William Daryl Olphert Kemmis (1892-1965) of Ballinacor, county Wicklow. This distinguished family of solicitors and army officers was of Anglo-Norman origin and had arrived in Ireland from Wales in the seventeenth century. One of its early representatives in Ireland, Thomas Kemmis (1753-1823), held a number of distinguished positions, including Crown Solicitor to the Treasury, Deputy Keeper of the Seals of the Chancellor of the Exchequer in Ireland, and Solicitor to Civil and Military Departments of the Ordnance in Ireland. He was succeeded by his third son, William Kemmis (1777-1864), a Crown Solicitor for the Dublin and Leinster Circuit. William married Ellen, second daughter of Nicholas Southcote Mansergh of Grenane, county Tipperary, in 1805, and in the same year commenced the building of Ballinacor, which partly incorporated an old dwelling house known as Drumkitt Lodge. His eldest son, William Gilbert Kemmis (1806-1881), died unmarried, and bequeathed the estate to his nephew, Colonel William Kemmis (1836-1900). A Professor of Artillery at the Royal Military College, Woolwich, Colonel Kemmis was the author of several instructional text books. He married in 1862 Ellen Gertrude de Horne Christy, eldest daughter and heiress of George Steinman Steinman of Priory Lodge, Peckham, and Sunridge, Kent. Their eldest son, William, succeeded to Ballinacor, while the second surviving son, Marcus (1867-1945), became heir to his maternal grandfather and assumed the surname of Kemmis-Steinman.

Like his father, William Henry Olphert Kemmis (1864-1939) followed a military career, rising to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the Artillery Militia. He retired on the death of his father to take on the management of the Ballinacor estate, and married in 1888 Frances Maude, second daughter of the Reverend Charles Beauchler. Captain William Daryl Olphert Kemmis was the eldest of their three children. Having joined the Inniskilling Dragoons in 1912, he served in the First World War and retired from active service in 1923.

The youngest of Captain Marcus Beresford and Rosalie Armstrong’s children, Lisalie Maude Armstrong (1897-1990), also married in 1927. Her husband, Odo George Henry Russell (1899-1980) of Broadmead Manor, Folkestone, Kent, was Major in the Black Watch (Royal Highland Regiment). He retired from the army in 1936, but on the outbreak of the Second World War re-joined his regiment and was sent to France in October 1939. He was wounded and reported missing in May-June 1940 and spent the remainder of the war in German prison camps, mostly at Spangenberg. He was released from captivity in the last days of March 1945.

Following the death of his only son, Captain Marcus Beresford Armstrong made the decision to pass the Moyaliffe estate to his second daughter, Jess. (The Mayo and Sligo estates had been sold to the Congested Districts Board in 1904.) She and her husband divided their time between Moyaliffe and Ballinacor until the death of Captain Kemmis in 1965, when through a series of events Jess Kemmis lost ownership of both Ballinacor (which was inherited by her husband’s maternal cousin, Major Richard Lomer) and Moyaliffe, which was offered for sale to the Land Commission. She was later able to regain possession of Moyaliffe Castle and 12 acres of the demesne, but not the surrounding farm.

As she had no children, and as the marriage of her younger sister was also childless, Jess Kemmis bequeathed Moyaliffe Castle and grounds to her distant relation, Robert George Carew Armstrong (1911-1983), of Natal, South Africa. They were related through Jess Kemmis’s great-great-grandfather, the Reverend William Carew Armstrong, whose younger brother, the Reverend Robert Carew Armstrong, was Robert’s great-great-grandfather. Following Robert’s death, the property passed to his eldest son, Graham Carew Armstrong (b. 1946). It remained in the hands of the Armstrong family until July 1999, when it was sold to John Stakelum.

Archival History: The collection as it stands was held in various parts of Moyaliffe Castle until 1999, except for a small trunk of documents which was transferred in Jess Kemmis’s lifetime to the Bolton Library, Cashel, for examination and cataloguing which however did not take place. In 1999, when Moyaliffe Castle was being prepared for sale, archival material preserved in the house was gathered together and transferred to the home of local historian Willie Hayes, Roscrea, county Tipperary, for safekeeping. The material was inspected by George Cunningham, Vice-Chairman of the Governing Authority of the University of Limerick and noted antiquarian, who undertook the necessary representations with the university to have the collection permanently housed in its Special Collections at the Glucksman Library. In the meantime, temporary storage for the material was arranged by Dom Laurence Walsh in Mount St Joseph Abbey, Roscrea. The collection, including the small trunk of documents in the Bolton Library, was transferred to Special Collections on 3 March 2001.

Immediate Source of Acquisition: Donated by Susan and Graham Armstrong, Natal, South Africa, in 1999. Additional material to the collection was donated by the Reverend Kevin Dalton on 21 October 2013 and by Graham Mark on 1 June 2016. The archival history of these two subsequent donations is unknown.
CONTENT AND STRUCTURE

Scope and Content: This collection contains material created and generated by the Armstrong and Kemmis families during their ownership of Moyaliffe Castle, county Tipperary, and includes both administrative records and personal documents. Seventeenth-century material is scarce and limited in the main to leases of small pockets of land in counties Tipperary and Limerick. A more unusual item from this period is the satirical manuscript poem On the Bill of Conformity (2137), attributed to Henry Hall, one of only sixteen known copies in the world. Eighteenth-century administrative records are mainly of financial and legal nature and arise from the badly managed affairs of William Armstrong (1704-1768), which affected his brother, the Reverend John Armstrong, who succeeded to the estate. Of personal items, the collection of early eighteenth-century sermons (375-427) attributed to the Reverend Edward Armstrong, the Reverend John Armstrong and others is of particular interest.

The nineteenth-century administrative material relates predominantly to the management of the Moyaliffe estate, and the succession to, management and eventual disposal of the family’s estates in Mayo and Sligo. There are also some clerical records of interest, most notably material relating to tithe wars of the 1830s (758-766 and 789-813), and the state of dilapidation of the Mansion House of the See of Tuam discovered after the death, in 1819, of the Most Reverend Honourable William Beresford, first Baron Decies, Archbishop of Tuam, whose daughter was married to John Armstrong (1791-1847) (850-860).

By far the most voluminous, and perhaps the most interesting, part of the collection is that relating to the twentieth century. The administrative records in this section are in the main concerned with the management not only of Moyaliffe Castle but also of Ballinacor, county Wicklow, home of Captain William Daryl Olphert Kemmis. There is also a large quantity of material relating to Moyaliffe Stud (1547-1595), and to the problem of succession to the Moyaliffe and Ballinacor estates following Captain Kemmis’s death without issue in 1965 (1812-1834). On the personal side, the extensive correspondence of Rosalie Armstrong and her daughter Jess provide a unique insight into the genteel Anglo-Irish lifestyle and the irrevocable changes wrought upon it by the onset of the First World War. Of unique significance are the letters of Captain Kemmis to his father (1475-1479), and the letters and diaries of Captain William Maurice ('Pat') Armstrong written during the First World War (1209-1212, 1414-1418), providing first-hand accounts of events as they unfolded in the various theatres of war.

The twentieth-century material was roughly arranged by Jess Kemmis, who also appears to have destroyed some of it for personal reasons. Items thus lost included letters written by her niece, Bettyne Spencer (née Everard), to justify her actions during the Moyaliffe Castle dispute (for which see 1821-1831). The letters were destroyed by Mrs Kemmis because she felt her niece’s views to be wrong. Also missing are Jess Kemmis’s diaries for the years 1955-1982 which she is known to have kept assiduously with the view to their permanent preservation within the family papers.

Jess Kemmis provided many explanatory notes and dates relating to the Armstrong Papers and the people and events to which they relate. These notes, which can be found scattered throughout the collection, should be treated with due caution as most, while well-intentioned and often helpful, can be misleading or inaccurate, written as they were in advanced old age.
Appraisal, Destruction and Scheduling Information: All records have been retained.

Accruals: No accruals are expected.

System of Arrangement: The material in this collection has been arranged into two parts. Part one comprises documents pertaining to the Armstrong family of Moyaliffe Castle and has been arranged into eight series (A-H) to follow the succession to the estate from Captain William Armstrong (c. 1630-1695) to Captain Marcus Beresford Armstrong (1859-1923). Under each section, documents have been divided into sub-series according to their form (financial records, leases, correspondence etc.) or creator (wives, daughters and younger sons), and listed chronologically by date.

Part two comprises seven series. Series A contains papers relating to the Kemmis family of Ballinacor, county Wicklow, and follows the same generational arrangement as Part one. This series incorporates papers created and generated by Jess Armstrong, who married Captain William Daryl Olphert Kemmis in 1927.

Series B comprises papers relating to the South African branch of the Armstrong family, who inherited the Moyaliffe estate following the death of Jess Kemmis in 1982. The material in this section is arranged according to the same principles as Series A.

Series C comprises documents which it has not been possible to attribute to any particular family member. The material has been divided into sub-series according to their form (leases, wills, appointments etc.), and listed chronologically by date.

Series D, E and F comprise maps and atlases; paintings and drawings; and postcards and letterheads, respectively, arranged chronologically by date.

Series G comprises press cuttings, arranged into sub-series according to their subject matter and listed either alphabetically by surname or chronologically by date.

CONDITIONS OF ACCESS AND USE

Conditions Governing Access: Unrestricted access to most items. Files 2053-2086 contain personal information relating to people living or presumed living and are closed until 2042 to protect individual privacy. These files have been identified in the descriptive catalogue.

Conditions Governing Reproduction: Standard copyright regulations apply to all items. For photocopying or reproducing material, please consult with the staff.
Language/ Scripts of Material: English, except for 1002, which is in French, and 1423, which is in two different Arabic scripts.

Physical Characteristics and Technical Requirements: Paper documents in good or reasonable condition. A number of items require conservation treatment and are too fragile to be safely handled. These items have been identified in the descriptive catalogue and, where possible, transcripts of their contents have been provided.

Finding Aids: A hard copy of the descriptive catalogue is available in the Reading Room in Special Collections, University of Limerick.

ALLIED MATERIALS

Existence and Location of Originals: Files 15, 90, 352, 357, 360, 363, 366, 368, 453, 457, 467, 469, 583, 598, 600, 609, 680, 775-776, 779-782, 784, 793, 795-796, 798-799, 804-806, 808, 812, 815, 818-819, 821-825, 827, 829-835, 837, 920-934, 957, 1001, 1319-1322, 1325-1326, 1328-1331, 1333-1335, 1337-1343, 2063, 2130 and 2133 comprise in full or in part photocopies of originals. The reason for the absence of the originals is unknown, as is their present location or status.

Related Units of Description: For photographs of the Armstrong and related families, see P6A in Special Collections. For additional material concerning Captain William Maurice (‘Pat’) Armstrong and his military career, and for a suggested re-sequencing of file 1205, see P41 in Special Collections. Captain Armstrong’s uniforms and other related wartime memorabilia are on display at St Mary’s Famine and War Museum, Thurles (www.faminemuseum.com). A small collection of letters addressed to the Reverend William [Carew] Armstrong of Moyaliffe, Thurles, regarding the collection of tithes in county Kilkenny, is held in the National Library, Dublin, MS 49,441 (1-7). For researchers interested in the wider Armstrong family, www.armstrongclan.org.uk provides a useful starting point.

NOTES

Note: The spelling of personal and place names appears in the catalogue as it appears in the documents, with the modern day equivalent provided in square brackets whenever possible. Researchers are advised to consult the IreAtlas Townland Database at http://www.seanruad.com/ for further assistance.

Owing to the similarity of personal names from one generation to the next, individual family members are referred to by their full name and title, for example the nephew of William Armstrong (1704-1768) is at all times referred to as the Reverend William Carew Armstrong (1752-1839). For the last generation of the Armstongs to live at Moyaliffe, pet names have been applied to differentiate between family members. Thus, Winona Rosalie Armstrong (later Kemmis) is referred to as Jess, to differentiate her from her mother, Rosalie Armstrong, and her mother-in-law, Frances Kemmis. Similarly, Captain William Maurice Armstrong is referred to as Pat Armstrong, to differentiate him from his father, Captain Marcus Beresford Armstrong. For the Kemmis family, Captain Kemmis refers to Jess Armstrong’s husband, and Colonel Kemmis to her father-in-law.

1 16 March 1662 Declaration issued by Captain Arthur Ormsby releasing William Armstrong, Ballyrobin, county Tipperary, of a bond of £110 stg which Armstrong has completed to Brooke Bridges and Colonel John Bridges, Ballyvenoge [Ballynabanoge], county Limerick, and to Captain John Bridges, Cashel. 3 pp

2 7 August 1666 Receipt issued by Patrick Hackett to William Armstrong, Ballirobin [Ballyrobin], for one year’s rent out of the lands of Ardonghell [Ardohill]. 1 p

3 28 January 1667 Draft articles of agreement between William Ryan, Ballylooba [Ballylooby], county Limerick, and William Armstrong of Bohercarran [Bohercarron], county Limerick, in which Ryan agrees to lease Mosstowne, part of Ballylooba, to Armstrong for the yearly rent of £70 stg. Armstrong is to mark the boundaries of the land and repair the existing dwelling house or rebuild it on some other part of the premises, and to perform agreements made to the previous lessee, John Williams. Armstrong shall not dispose of his interest in the premises without the consent of Ryan and without giving him first refuse. Outsize. Fragile. 3 pp

1. Financial Matters

17 1744-1746 Accounts prepared by [the Rev] Robert [Carew] Armstrong to the heirs of his brother, Andrew Armstrong, deceased, recording debits on the left and credits on the right. [Andrew Armstrong had set himself up as a merchant with financial backing from his father, and joined with others to buy a ship at a considerable expense. He navigated The Armstrong to the Western Isles in 1740, carrying stores to the King’s forces there, but drowned on the return voyage, when the vessel was lost with all hands. For additional material relating to Andrew Armstrong’s death, see 24-27.] 1 p
18 7 November 1744  Receipt from Peter Dalton for rent of Ballinlough.  1 p

19 21 December 1745  Double bill of exchange drawn on Robert Donovan, Dublin, merchant, and payable to John Carden. Bears William Armstrong's pay order on the reverse.  2 pp

2. Legal Matters

20 Assignment of Judgments

Parties: Hugh Wray, city of Dublin, merchant, of the first part

The Rev Robert Carew Armstrong, Toma, King's County, of the second part

Property: Judgments against William Armstrong, Cummer, county Tipperary for £900 stg debt, previously assigned to Hugh Wray by John Smyth

Term: Forever

Condition: £502.11.4½ with interest to Wray by Armstrong in various instalments

Date: 19 July 1768

Size: 4 pp

21 23 October 1750  Draft declaration by the Rev Guy Atkinson and the Rev John Armstrong empowering the Rev Robert Carew Armstrong to receive his proportion of money due on a mortgage and judgment on the lands of Ballinlough (see 7) in accordance with his marriage settlement.  Fragile.  1 p

22 26 December 1768  Declaration of trust by Edward Walsh in the case of Walsh against Patrick Ryan and the Rev John Armstrong. Walsh declares that the bill of complaint he filed in the Court of Chancery was for the use and benefit of the Rev Robert Carew Armstrong, in whose best interests he will continue to act.  2 pp
3. Correspondence

23 [c. 1743] Letter from Peter Dalton to the Rev Robert Carew Armstrong. The letter is badly faded, the only legible part conveying news of Dalton’s state of health. The bottom of the letter bears an acknowledgement of £1:2:9 received from Dalton with Armstrong’s initials. 1 p

VI George Armstrong, His Seventh Son (1716-1739)

George Armstrong was apprenticed to Phineas Bury, a Cork banker. His death resulted in a law case, which also involved his brother Andrew. It may be that George through his banking connections had assisted Andrew in financing the purchase of the ship The Armstrong, which sank in 1740, prompting creditors to take legal action against the Reverend John Armstrong, brother to and administrator of George’s will. Also see 17.

1. Scully against Armstrong

24 [c. 1747] Draft cross interrogations on the part of the defendant, John Armstrong, to be exhibited to the witnesses on the part of the complainant. Outsize. 3 pp

25 [1747] Cross interrogations on the part of the defendant to be admitted to witnesses on the part of the plaintiffs. Lacking cover page. Outsize. 14 pp

26 14 July 1747 Affidavit of serving order to pay the money levied on the execution to the defendant John Armstrong sworn by Cornelius Sullivan in front of Benjamin Sullivan. Outsize. 2 pp

27 19 October 1747 Letter from the Rev John Armstrong to Lewis Pollard [solicitor], Golden Lane, Dublin, concerning the particulars of the case. 2 pp
Brief on behalf of the defendant on a ‘fabricated account’ involving George Armstrong, Andrew Armstrong and goods shipped on board The Armstrong. This document is too fragile to be safely handled. Outsize.

3. Accounts

(a) With James Dexter

James Dexter of Brannockstown, county Kildare, and of Dublin, was Marshal of Four Courts and William Armstrong’s brother-in-law through Dexter’s marriage to William’s fourth sister, Margaret, in 1738. In c. 1739, William became closely involved with Dexter in financial matters, remitting and paying large sums of money through him, and joining him in several indemnities for money borrowed for Dexter’s sole use (see 58, 68, 84-91 and 96). William’s death in 1768 revealed irregularities in the way Dexter had handled William’s financial affairs, eventually prompting his brother, the Reverend John Armstrong, to enter into a lawsuit against Dexter (see 283-287). Note that some of the accounts described below may be calculations prepared by John Armstrong or his lawyers rather than original accounts prepared by Dexter. For additional material relating to James Dexter, see 115, 119, 126, 150-154, 160-161, 283-287, 315, 336, 348, 352, 357, 364 and 1997.

IV    Legal Matters

1. Armstrong against Baylee

In 1748, the Rev John Armstrong entered into a bond of indemnity jointly with the Rev Tyrrell Baylee, Drumin, county Limerick, to borrow the sum of £100 from Miss Elizabeth Green, Limerick, for the use of the Rev Mr Baylee (see 167). When Baylee died in 1763 without having paid either interest or principal due to Green, Armstrong paid the debt due and took action against Baylee’s legatees, Sexton Baylee, Henrietta Baylee and Thomas Studdert, to retrieve the money out of the legacies due to Tyrrell Baylee under the wills of Susanna Baylee, Elizabeth Gregory and Edmund Pery. In the course of events a dispute arose between Henrietta Baylee (Baylee’s widow) and Sexton Baylee (his brother), prompting the former to take legal action against the latter and delaying Armstrong’s attempts to settle his matter in court.

2. Armstrong against Dalton

In 1709, Peter Dalton the elder mortgaged the lands of Ballinlough for £250 to John Short who, in 1720, assigned the mortgage to Thomas Armstrong. Thomas’s brother, William Armstrong, lent Peter Dalton the younger at three different times money on bonds, which three bonds he assigned to Thomas in 1735. The latter in turn assigned the mortgage and the bonds (see 7), to his sons, the Rev John Armstrong and the Rev Robert Carew Armstrong, who in 1742 took action against Peter Dalton the elder, Peter Dalton the younger, and others to retrieve the money. For related items and other material relating to Peter Dalton, see 18, 23, 111-112, 218-219, 338 and 355-356.

3. Armstrong against Dexter

For background information to this case, see under William Armstrong’s accounts with James Dexter.

Copy letters to Mr Obins, Mr Meheux and the Rev Robert Armstrong relating to Dexter; letter from the Rev John Armstrong to the Rev Richard Lloyd thanking him for his endeavours to settle 'the intricate affair of Brother Dexter’s'; together with two copies of an undated draft letter, probably to the Rev Richard Lloyd, in which Armstrong states that 'I sincerely & firmly believe, that if a fair & just acc[oun]t was stated between Mr Dexter & my Brother, he would really be in my Brother’s debt above a Thousand Pounds. Were I able to pay the Ballance (sic) demanded of £3611:19:2½ I most sincerely aver, that I would much sooner do it than enter into a Litigation, in which such things must appear against him. God forgive him, & give him a just Way of thinking. I am sure if he could, by any Chicanery recover that Money from me, he would never have Peace or Quietness, & it would end in the Ruin of his whole Family'.

4. Armstrong against Prior

In 1713, John and Elizabeth Prior mortgaged the lands of Crossogue and Lisneselly to Cesar Otway, Cloghonane, county Tipperary, in consideration of £100 (see 5). In 1714, John Prior borrowed a further £50 from Otway but died shortly afterwards, leaving a son, Thomas Prior. John's widow, Elizabeth, married William Mills. In 1720, Caesar Otway assigned the mortgage and bond to Thomas Armstrong in consideration of £172 (see 6). In 1734, William and Elizabeth Mills gave up the mortgaged lands to Thomas Prior on condition that Prior pay the debt affecting them (see 133-134, 288). In 1740, Thomas Prior married Elizabeth Ely, who died in 1742 leaving issue one child, John Prior. Thomas later married Catherine [surname unknown] and had several children by her. When Thomas Prior died intestate in 1762, his widow obtained letters of administration and took possession of his personal fortune, including two leases, which she sold to her stepson, John Prior. She then issued a summons to recover a third of the mortgaged lands, now in the possession of John Prior, as her dower. Thomas Armstrong had died in 1741, appointing his eldest son, William Armstrong, his executor. When William died intestate in 1768, his brother, the Rev John Armstrong, obtained letters of administration to him, but there was no administrator de bonis non to Thomas Armstrong. The debt remained unpaid while the mortgaged lands remained in possession of John Prior, who under his own settlement was bare tenant for life. Prior subsequently took action against his stepmother and her subsequent husband, John Mears. The Rev John Armstrong did not take the case into court but sought legal advice to ascertain whether his money was sufficiently secured and, if not, what he should do to recover it.

5. Armstrong against Ryan

In 1759, William Armstrong leased the lands and dwelling house of Mealiffe, county Tipperary, to Patrick Ryan for 31 years. Ryan made several improvements on the premises, for which Armstrong made allowances out of the rent due by Ryan, although the lease did not oblige Armstrong to do this. When William died in 1768, Ryan made a demand to the Rev John Armstrong for an allowance for repairs allegedly due to him since 1763, prompting John to seek legal advice. In May 1779, a year and a half’s rent became due to the Rev John Armstrong resulting in an ejectment on 14 December, on which day the whole premised were demised for six months to Patrick Ryan, the former tenant, with Mary Strang and Joseph Strang, who merely joined the lease as a security for the six months’ rent. At this stage, two years’ rent was in arrears, and John Armstrong again sought legal advice on how to recover it.

V Correspondence

1. From and Relating to Benjamin Lane

Some of these letters relate to the will of the Reverend Morgan Hickey (for which see 314-321).

From Bryan Meheux, attorney, Dublin, relating to Lane’s bill of complaint and related matters. Two items outsize. One item is too fragile to be safely handled.

From Peter Dalton, Dublin, relating to a bond debt involving Lane.

From Thomas [surname part of letter missing], Dublin, relating to the selection of the jury in the impending court case of Lane against Armstrong.

From Paul Sherlock, Butlerstown, relative to eight bills of Richard Bradshaw and five of John Comerford, which he proposes to send to Lane, who will get them accepted and paid. He concludes that he is ‘not able to write any more being so very unwell with a gravel & collick’.
341 23 March 1762 From John Griffith, Moneygall, to Lane asking him to send £4 ‘for Molly’. End of letter contains an endorsement by William Bettridge of £2 received from Lane for the use of John Griffith. 2 pp

342 17 April 1765 From Lane, mainly relating to tenants and rent. 4 pp

343 6 December 1765 From John Armstrong to Lane, Borres, requesting him to get a year’s rent for Mary Bettridge from Mr Langdon and pay her, Armstrong being unable to do this owing to a bad fall from his horse. 2 pp

344 10 August 1778 From Lane, informing Armstrong of £30 awaiting him from the Proctor, and regretting that ‘I see not the least chance of your receiving one shilling except from Lonegan. The rest of the tenants say they have paid the Bettridges how that is I know not. But I know that Tim Kennedy that complete villain means always to be in your debt’. Outsize. 2 pp

345 [c. 1760s-1770s?] From Lane, relating to the death of Matt Bettridge and matters arising from it. Outsize. 4 pp

2. From and Relating to the Lloyd Family

346 20 December 1754 From Richard Bourke, enclosing a copy of Richard Lloyd’s letter of 14 December 1754, which certifies that ‘my Brother Armstrong has perfected a Bond for the sum of £1186.10.0’. Bourke points out that the letter ‘differs from what passed between you & me relative to your affair. This document is too fragile to be safely handled. 2 pp

347 28 January 1769 From Thomas Lloyd, Kildrumin, setting down the details of ‘what your brother ow’d me as you are a strainger (sic) to the demand’. He adds that ‘I find you cannot conveniently pay meat present tho’ I want it I cannot think of distressing you therefore will take you Bond payable next November’. Outsize. 2 pp
348  c. 1770-1775  From William Lloyd and Richard Lloyd, mainly relating to financial matters involving James Dexter and arising from the death of William Armstrong, but also conveying social and family news.
4 items

3. From and Relating to the Garnett Family

349  [c. 1764]  From Laurence Neligan to the Rev Mr Garnet, ‘or in his absence the Rev Mr John Armstrong’, Tipperary, regretting that his trip to Dublin is postponed. Reverse of letter contains calculations relating to Mr Moore’s bond (see 181) in Armstrong’s hand.
4 pp

350  [c. 1760s?]  From Laurence Neligan, relative to money due from him to Armstrong. He also notes that Frank Garnett ‘is to have an addition of ten pounds a year for the service of Banshane’.
3 pp

351  14 November 1767  From John Garnett, Waringstown, thanking John Armstrong for his kind favours, asking him to raise for him another £100, and expressing a wish in a short time to enable himself to ‘get the better of the world, as Cloth & yarn are now very cheap & Money very dear’.
2 pp

352  27 June 1770  Photocopy of a letter from Frederick Garnett relating to James Dexter.
4 pp

353  11 February 1775  From Thomas Goodwin [whose mother was first cousin to Armstrong’s wife, Frances Garnett], the General Post Office, Dublin, agreeing to assist Armstrong in procuring the balance due of a joint security from Mr Rumbold and Mr Evans (see 180), and advising him in an unofficial capacity that ‘the sooner you can extricate yourself from your engagements for Rumbold the better, as I should be much concern’d at your being a sufferer, for your good nature & tenderness in endeavouring to keep a poor man in an employment which it will be impossible for him to hold in his present circumstances’.
2 pp
4. With Peter Dalton

354 [c. 1760s-1770s?] From John Garnett, informing Armstrong of his discussions with Mr Carden about the Betridges. 2 pp

355 7 March 1743 From the Rev John Armstrong to Peter Dalton, Drumhear, Cashel, enclosing a copy of accounts relating to payments made by Dalton to the Rev Robert Carew Armstrong between 1738 and 1741. 3 pp

356 7 February 1756 From Peter Dalton, Dublin, urging Armstrong to ‘search for Mr Pollard’s bill of cost and send it to me that I may make a proper charge of the cost you are at in that suit as I hope it will at the end be recovered from Mr Butter and I hope to get a good deal by his suit…’. He also gives an account of his meeting with Mr Bettridge who ‘was in a decay’ and who, Dalton feels persuaded, ‘knew not the least design’. 3 pp

5. Other Correspondence

357 1746:1766 Photocopies of letters from James Dexter relating to the death of Archdeacon Heron and to various financial matters. 2 items

358 20 January 1755 From James McCarthy, Springhouse, relating to ‘some acres’ leased by Richard Bourke of Dromsally from Mr Matthew ‘which it seems he sett (sic) to Mr Wm Armstrong’. McCarthy asks John Armstrong to speak to his brother about rent due on the said lands. 2 pp

359 19 November 1757 From Shapland Swiny, Taghmun, New Ross, enclosing a draft to Mr Garnet and asking John Armstrong to ‘furnish our Friend Shap Carew with a copy of the Original Lease & the date & manner of its being Register’d: if he has no objection to the Validity, & thinks I can safely renew, you may depend on my concurrence’. He also enquires ‘whether my Mare be living’. 1 p
From John Smyth, Dublin, to his uncle the Rev John Armstrong, Tipperary, mainly relating to the cases of Armstrong against Ryan, Armstrong against Prior and Armstrong against Pennefather; to financial matters involving Creed’s bond and Austin and Baker’s bond to Solomon Newman. Also a photocopy of a letter relating to ‘Tyrrell’s suit against Henry’ [see Armstrong against Baylee]. In three folders. One of the letters, dated 20 December 1768, is too fragile to be safely handled but is transcribed below.

My Dearest Uncle, I expect, from your account of my Uncle Will wrote last Friday & by a letter I had from Andrew Ellard of the same date to hear by tomorrow’s post that he is freed from the cares and troubles of this life; if that event shall happen, the bill you desire [is] ready, and [I] am prepared on the first notice to enter your judgments. I send you inclosed (sic) a list of the Judgments of [part of letter missing] and have marked in the margin such as I know are paid. I have some warra[nts?] to acknowledge satisfaction against him, which can be done in a few minutes. I searched at the Register’s office for the entry of Ryan’s lease of Moyaliffe, and found an article for a lease dated the 14th of January 1767 for 31 years from 1st November 1766 at 502.10 registered in February 1767, but there is not the least trace of the lease or article of 1759; that Ryan thought proper to keep to himself, knowing it to be discoverable, and I fancy the last is more so, for I believe 15s 6d an acre, which on a computation, (allowing Mealiffe to contain no more than 650 acres, tho’ in part there are 700 acres in it,) I find is the rent [?], was not in 1767 two thirds of the real improved value of the lands, & the act of Parliament expressly says that on every lease to a Papist two thirds of the real improved value at the time of making the lease must be reserved. I shall not file the bill ‘till after the post comes in tomorrow, when I expect a full account from you. I intended visiting the County of Tipperary this Christmas, but as things are at present I believe my being here will be of more use to you than I could possibly be in the Country, and therefore I have determined to stay in town to receive your commands. I am with duty love & sincere good wishes to you my Aunt & Dear Uncle most truly affectionately & dutifully yours, John Smyth. Mr Reed will answer Mr –s letter this post.

1. Appointments

| 374 | 28 October 1770 | Copy declaration by the Rev John Armstrong, witnessed by Andrew Roe and Thomas Buchanan, in which Armstrong agrees to conform to the liturgy of the Church of Ireland as established by law, having taken the oath of fidelity to his Majesty King George III. |

2. Sermons

This collection of sermons dates from the early to mid-1700s. Most of them pre-date the Rev John Armstrong who did, however, use them as a source of inspiration for his own sermons.
(a) Attributed to the Reverend Edward Armstrong

375  1711  ‘Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not into (sic) the way of evil men: Avoid it, pass not by it, turn from it, and pass away’ (Proverbs 4:14-15). The second last page is loose and contains on the reverse the beginning of another sermon (2 Thessalonians 3:6). This side is dated 1711. The main sermon bears no date. Lacking end page(s).

26 pp

376  27 April 1712  ‘Speak not evil one of another’ (James 4:11).

19 pp

377  [1700s]  ‘That no man go beyond or (sic) defraud his brother in any matter, because that the Lord is the Avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you’ (1 Thessalonians 4:6).

16 pp

378  [1700s]  ‘All things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him, with whom we have to do’ (Hebrews 4:13).

13 pp

379  [1700s]  ‘Their conscience also bearing witness, & their thoughts the mean while accusing, or else excusing one another’ (Romans 2 v. 15).

17 pp

380  [1700s]  ‘But now commandeth all men every where to repent’ (Acts 17:30).

16 pp

381  [1700s]  ‘Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the Kingdom of Heaven: but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in Heaven’ (Matthew 7:21).

15 pp

382  [1700s]  ‘Woe unto him that call Evil Good and Good Evil’ (Isaiah 5:20).

15 pp
‘Lord, make me to know mine end, and the measure of my days, what it is that I may know, how frail I am’ (Psalms 39:4).

‘Above all things, have fervent charity among your selves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins’ (Peter 4:15). Fragile.

‘The spirit of a man will sustain his infirmity, but a wounded spirit who can bear?’ (Proverbs 18:14).

‘I will not execute the fierceness of mine anger, I will not return to destroy Ephraim, for I am God & not man’ (Hosea 11:9). Fragile.

‘All things whatsoever ye would, that men should do to you, do ye even so to them’ (Matthew 7:12).

IX Thomas Carew Armstrong, His Eldest Son (1744-1774)

1. Armstrong against Penenefather

In 1722, Kingsmill Penenefather limited the use of certain lands to his second son, Thomas, and charged them with £2,000 for the maintenance of his daughters and younger sons. On his father’s death, Thomas Penenefather paid out £1,700 of the said sum, leaving £300 unpaid. To recover monies due to them, his brother Frederick assigned his share to his brother Mathew, who in turn assigned that and his own share to the Rev John Armstrong. Another brother, Francis, assigned his share to John’s brother, William Armstrong. All three shares were subsequently assigned to Thomas Carew Armstrong, who in 1769 filed a bill of complaint in the Exchequer to recover the money. Following his death in 1774, the case was taken over by Thomas’s younger brother, the Rev Robert Carew Armstrong.

V  Legal Matters

1. Lynam against Armstrong

In 1749, Joseph Neynoe lent William Armstrong £200, for the non-payment of which he obtained a judgment in 1756. Armstrong died in 1768, and the debt eventually passed to his nephew, the Rev William Carew Armstrong. Neynoe subsequently died intestate. His son, William Neynoe, obtained letters of administration to him and, upon William’s death, Neynoe’s daughter, Sarah Lynam, became administratrix and began to pursue the recovery of the principal sum together with interest and costs.

2. Tottenham against Armstrong

This dispute involved a parcel of ground called Chantor’s Land in the parish of Donohill, Diocese of Cashel, county Tipperary. The land in question had been granted by Charles II by Patent in 1680 to Waller Thomas, Archbishop of Cashel, and his successors, and was considered as belonging to the Chantor of Cashel. The Armstrongs had been leasing the land from the Chantors since the eighteenth century. The Rev Robert Ponsonby Tottenham, who was appointed Chantor of Cashel in 1798, served the Rev William Armstrong and his tenants on Chantor’s Land with notices to quit, prompting Armstrong to defend himself in court. For additional related material, see 137, 202, 212, 232-234, 237-242, 244-247, 249-250, 254-255 and 612-619. It may be of interest to note that Shapland Swiny, whose name appears in many of these documents, was distantly related to the Armstrongs through marriage through the Carew family.
