THE RELATIONSHIP MODEL FOR YOUTH CRIME DIVERSION

Relationship building is the cornerstone of Youth Diversion Project (YDP) work with young people. Youth justice policy aims to prevent crime and antisocial behaviour and promote pro-social behaviour through support and guidance, enhancing community safety and reducing reliance on the criminal justice system. The Key to success lies in relationships between youth justice practitioners and young people, where policy translates into personal change.

Be fully committed

Communicate with Empathy

Guide, inspire hope and build agency

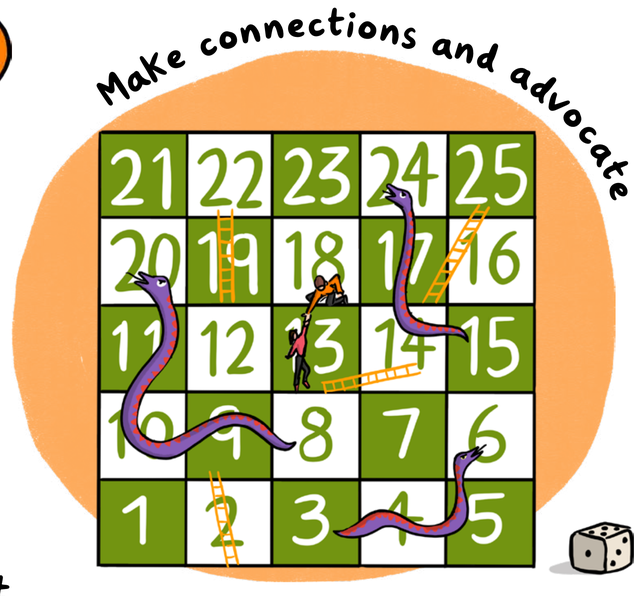

Be honest and challenge constructively

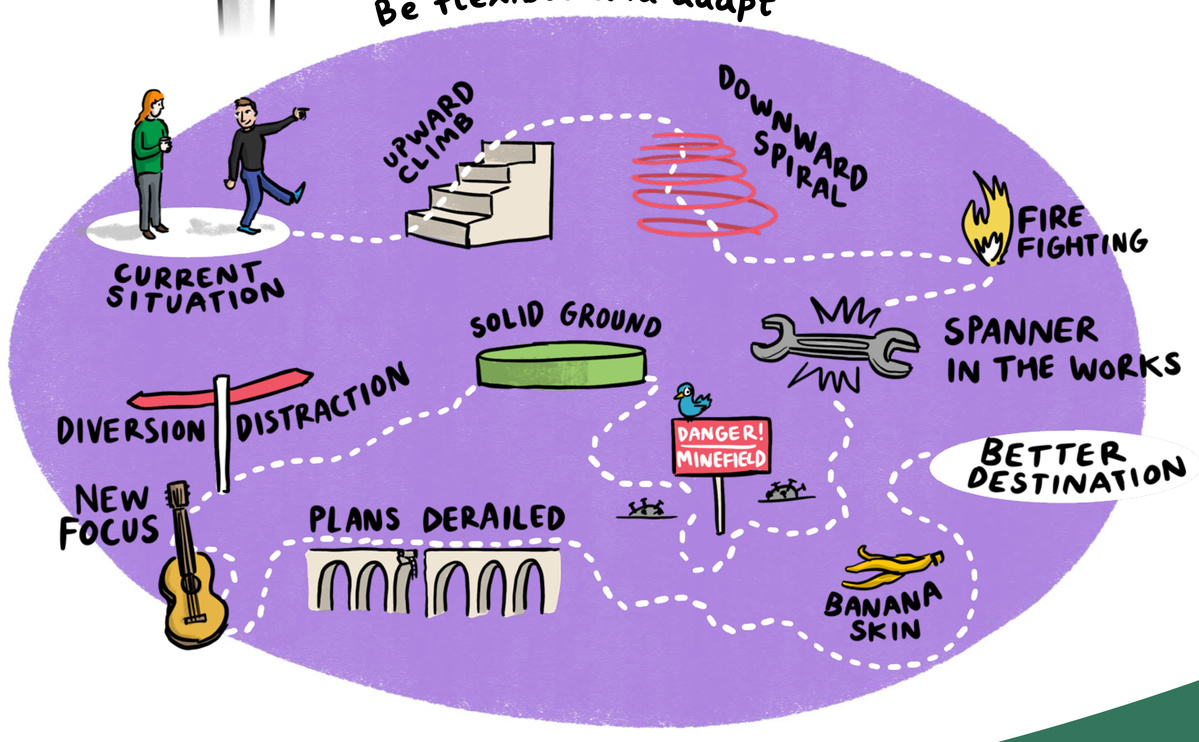

Make connections and advocate

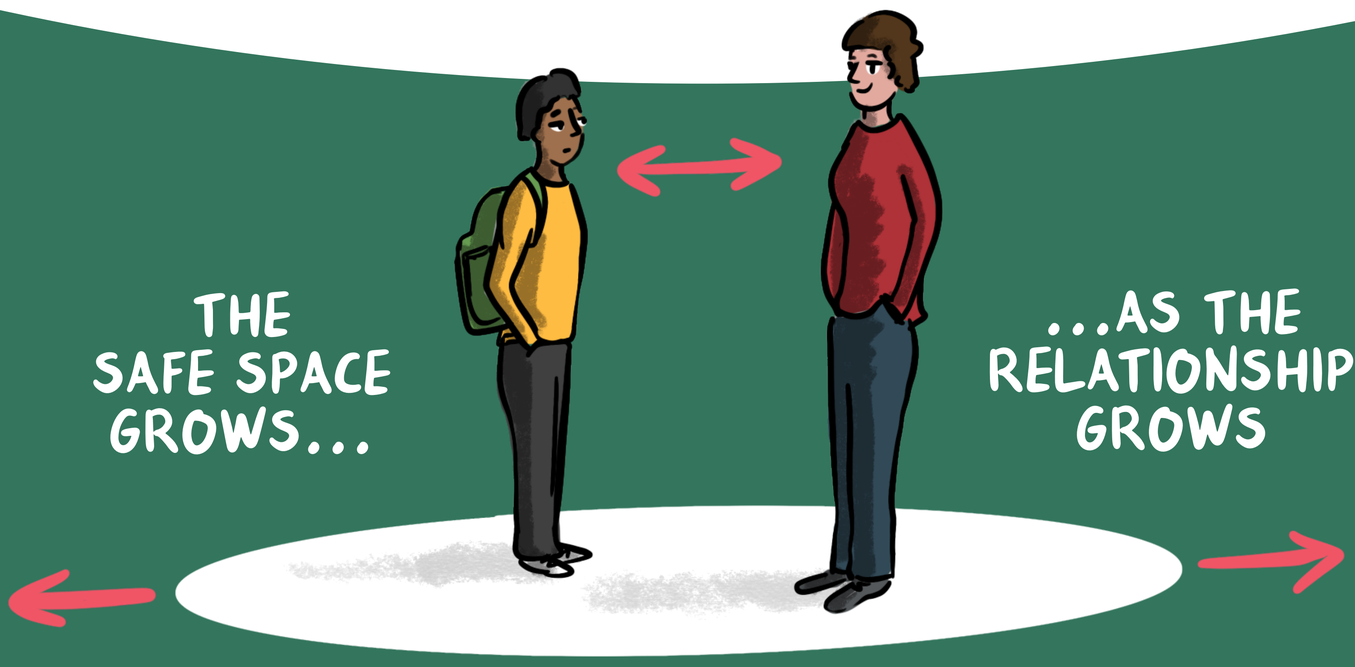

Practice use of self and reflection

Be flexible and adapt

SCAN THIS QR CODE
FOR MORE INFORMATION ON THE RELATIONSHIPS MODEL:

RESEARCH EVIDENCE INTO POLICY PROGRAMMES AND PRACTICE — YOUTH CRIME

UNIVERSITY OF LIMERICK
OLLSCOIL LUIMNIGH

An Roinn Dlí agus Cirt
Department of Justice