

THE UNIVERSITY OF LISBON IN NUMBERS

- 18 Schools (Faculties and Institutes)
- 80 Undergraduate Degrees (1st Cycle)
- 21 Integrated Masters Degrees
- 206 Masters Degrees (2nd cycle)
- 110 Doctoral Degrees (3rd cycle)
- 131 Diploma Programmes
- 47 794 Students (2017)
- 3 678 Incoming International Regular Students
- 3 236 Incoming International Mobility Students
- 1st Ranking University in Portugal

The University of Lisbon (ULisboa) is the highest ranking and largest university in Portugal and is among the 200 best universities worldwide. Its current layout results from a recent merger of the former Universidade de Lisboa, whose origins can be traced back to 1288, and the Lisbon Technical University, founded in 1930. The current ULisboa is heir to seven centuries of experience in higher education.

ULisboa is a privileged space for education, research, culture and art, with an educational offer encompassing all major disciplinary areas.

Due to its remarkable track-record ULisboa is currently ranked among the leading universities of the world.

Further info about ULisboa: www.ulisboa.pt

INCOMING INTERNACIONAL MOBILITY STUDENTS

Foreign students may apply to become an Erasmus+ or Exchange student and attend one or two semesters. The School of Arts and Humanities holds more than 350 Erasmus Bilateral Agreements with over 200 foreign universities and more than 100 protocols with universities from all over the world.

If your university does not hold a protocol with the School of Arts and Humanities, you can apply as Visiting Student. Tuition fees are estimated based on the number of ECTS for each course unit or according to the number of semester attending the School of Arts and Humanities.

Admission of Incoming Mobility students: internacional@letras.ulisboa.pt

INCOMING INTERNATIONAL REGULAR STUDENTS

Students holding a high school diploma in their home country who wish to study at the School of Arts and Humanities as a regular student are also welcome to apply to the Special Admission contest for Foreign Regular Students. Tuition fees are annually published and are available on the website.

Admission of Undergraduate Incoming Foreign Regular Students: sa.graduados@letras.ulisboa.pt

Admissions for Diploma Programmes, Masters and Doctoral Degrees: sa.posgraduados@letras.ulisboa.pt

Faculdade de Letras da Universidade de Lisboa
 Alameda da Universidade
 1600-214 Lisbon, Portugal
 Tel.: +315 21 792 00 00
 Email: info@letras.ulisboa.pt

FACULDADE DE LETRAS UNIVERSIDADE DE LISBOA

OPENING UP WORLDS

THE SCHOOL OF ARTS AND HUMANITIES IN NUMBERS

- Undergraduate Degrees (1st cycle) 17
- Masters Degrees (2nd cycle) 28
- Doctoral Degrees (3rd cycle) 23
- Diploma Programmes 21
- Undergraduate Students 3 200
- Masters Students 715
- Doctoral Students 320
- Incoming International Mobility Students 250
- Outgoing International Mobility Students 100
- Academic Staff 250
- Administrative Staff 85

“I felt warmly welcome at ULisboa and FLUL (...). I believe my experience here will be very relevant for my future as a teacher in Brazil. I came to know different cultures, made a lot of new friends and fell in love with Portugal, and especially with Lisbon in the process. I hope I can come back very soon for I now feel Portugal has become my second home.”

*Crislaine Alessandra de Lima (Brazil)
 Former Foreign Regular Student at FLUL*

A Prestigious School

The School of Arts and Humanities has a remarkable track record offering higher education in the areas of Archaeology, Classical Studies, Portuguese Studies, Philosophy and History.

A Contemporary School

The School of Arts and Humanities prepares students for the many challenges posed by the contemporary world, offering higher education in areas such as African Studies, Asian Studies, European Studies, Language Sciences and Translation.

A Creative School

The School of Arts and Humanities offers education in areas such as Literary Studies, Arts and Cultures, Culture Studies, Art and Interart Studies or Art History.

An Innovative School

Students are offered the unique opportunity to combine various disciplinary fields by means of the flexible design of its courses. Arts and Humanities, Portuguese Studies and Languages, Literatures and Cultures encompass all the disciplinary areas of our School. The first degree in General Studies further allows for the combination of all course units of the School of Arts and Humanities with other ULisboa Schools including: the Faculty of Fine Arts, the Faculty of Sciences, the Faculty of Law or the Faculty of Psychology.

A Multicultural School

Over 2 500 foreign students annually attend the School of Arts and Humanities, including incoming exchange students, international students and external students enrolling in Portuguese language courses.

An International School

The School of Arts and Humanities of ULisboa is an important hub within a very wide international network of high-ranking higher education institutions. The wide range of courses offered benefits from carefully selected student and staff exchange protocols with top-ranking universities.

The School of Arts and Humanities is organized into four main disciplinary areas: History, Linguistics, Literatures, Arts and Cultures, and Philosophy.

These four disciplinary areas encompass seven departments, eight Interdisciplinary Programmes, ten Research Centres and one Chair. The School of Arts and Humanities offers 17 undergraduate degrees as well as postgraduate degrees, including 28 Masters and 23 Doctoral Degree programmes. It additionally offers 21 Diploma Programmes and a wide range of Foreign Language Courses, as complementary training to both regular and external students. With a successfully system of internships and more than 500 international agreements, including Erasmus bilateral agreements and protocols for student and staff exchange, our degrees develop the skills needed to succeed in a globalized world.

Degrees Offered in Cooperation with Other ULisboa Schools and Further Higher Education Institutions

Thanks to a fruitful cooperation with other Faculties, Institutes and Schools of ULisboa, as well as with other higher education institutions, the School of Arts and Humanities has a selective range of strongly interdisciplinary undergraduate and postgraduate degrees.

Degrees with a Flexible Major/Minor Structure

Undergraduate degrees offer students the possibility of selecting Majors (comprising 10 course units) and Minors (comprising 5 course units). A flexible structure comprehending mandatory and a very wide range of optional course units allows students to combine their main areas of interest in a fully customized degree. The four undergraduate degrees with a Major/Minor structure currently offered are: Arts and Humanities; General Studies; Languages, Literatures and Cultures; and Portuguese Studies.

Courses in Foreign Languages

The School of Arts and Humanities offers 27 different foreign language courses as part of its degrees or as intensive courses at the Language Centre*, as well as Portuguese Language Courses for foreigners at the Institute of Portuguese Culture and Language* and Chinese Language (Mandarin) at the Confucius Institute.*

Arabic	Armenian	Bulgarian	Catalan	Chinese (Mandarin)	Croatian	Czech	English
French	German	Greek	Hebrew	Hindi	Hungarian	Italian	Japanese	Korean
Latin	Persian	Polish	Portuguese as a Foreign Language	Romanian	Russian
Slovenian	Swahili	Spanish	Turkish

*Further info: www.cil.letras.ulisboa.pt; www.confucio.ulisboa.pt; www.iclp.letras.ulisboa.pt

Undergraduate Degrees (1st cycle)

● African Studies	● European Studies*
● Archaeology	● General Studies*
● Art History	● History
● Artistic Studies	● Language Sciences
● Arts and Humanities	● Languages, Literatures and Cultures
● Asian Studies*	● Philosophy
● Classical Studies	● Portuguese Studies
● Communication and Culture Studies	● Translation
● Comparative Studies

Masters Degrees (2nd cycle)

● Archaeology	● Islamic and Medieval Mediterranean History*
● Art History and Heritage	● Linguistics
● Arts Markets*	● Literary Theory
● Asian Studies*	● Maritime History*
● Brazilian Studies*	● Military History*
● Classical Studies	● Philosophy
● Cognitive Science*	● Portuguese and Romance Studies
● Comparative Studies	● Portuguese as a Foreign Language / Second Language
● Culture and Communication	● Teaching (3rd Cycle Basic Education and Secondary School. Areas of specialization: English, French, German, History, Latin, Philosophy, Portuguese and Spanish)*
● Documentation and Information Sciences	● Textual Criticism
● English and American Studies	● Theatre Studies
● German Studies	● Tourism and Communication*
● History	● Translation
● History and Culture of Religions	● Translation and Conference Interpreting*

* Degrees offered in cooperation with other ULisboa schools and other universities

Doctoral Degrees (3rd cycle)

● Archaeology and Pre-History	● History and Culture of Religions
● Art History	● Linguistics
● Art Studies*	● Literary Theory
● Classical Studies	● Maritime History*
● Climate Change and Sustainable Development Policies*	● Philosophy
● Cognitive Science*	● Philosophy of Science, Technology, Art and Society (Internacional FCT PhD Programme)*
● Comparative Studies (Internacional FCT PhD Programme)	● Portuguese and Romance Studies
● Culture Studies	● Portuguese as a Foreign Language / Second Language
● English and American Studies	● Textual Criticism
● Ethics, Democracy and Societal Challenges*	● Theatre Studies
● History	● Translation Studies (Inter-University Doctoral Programme)*
● History (Inter-University Doctoral Programme)*

* Degrees offered in cooperation with other ULisboa schools and other universities

Diploma Programmes

Besides undergraduate and postgraduate degrees, the School of Arts and Humanities of ULisboa offers several additional courses as complementary training for students.

- Contemporary Art and Curatorial Studies
- Contemporary Portuguese Philosophical Thinking
- Creative Industries and Cultures: Management and Strategies
- Eastern Philosophy
- English as an International Language
- Ethics, Law and Political Thinking
- German Studies
- History and Gender
- Inter-Arts, Culture and Communication
- Interart Studies in the English-Speaking World
- Knowledge of European Portuguese: Instruments for Analysing and Assessing the Language
- Linguistic Knowledge and Uses of Portuguese
- Medieval Studies
- Military History and Sciences
- Philosophy of Nature, Landscape and the Environment
- Portuguese Studies (PFL/PSL)
- Teaching Portuguese Abroad (2nd and 3rd cycles of Basic Education) and in Secondary Education
- Translation from and into English
- Translation Practice
- Translation Technologies
- Trends Management and Communication